RE: Updated Judiciary of Guam Ethics Training Compliance Report

Dear Director Quenga:

This Ethics Training Compliance Report for the Judiciary of Guam (“Judiciary”) is submitted to the Guam Ethics Commission in compliance with 4 GCA §§ 15409(c) and 15410(d), as added by P.L. 36-25 on May 12, 2021. This report supplements the report filed with the Guam Ethics Commission on or about October 29, 2021.

This report covers:

- Judiciary employees hired after the enactment of P.L. 36-25 (May 12, 2021) who are required to attend an ethics in government program within six (6) months of employment; and
- Judiciary employees hired prior to enactment of P.L. 36-25 who are required to attend an ethics in government program within thirty-six (36) months of enactment of P.L. 36-25.

As you have been informed by Judiciary Staff Attorney Andrew S. Quenga, the Judiciary is developing its own Ethics Academy, which will train Judiciary employees on the program topics required in 4 GCA § 15410(a). The Judiciary is very grateful to be working with the Ethics Commission on this project and we look to sharing resources and ideas to ensure that the Judiciary is in compliance with statutory training requirements.

Although the Judiciary Ethics Academy is still in the process of developing its ethics curriculum, this week we launched the first Ethics Academy training module covering the Judiciary’s recently revised Code of Conduct. Judiciary employees are now being trained on our revised Code of Conduct via recorded videos. Attachment A hereto provides an overview of the Judiciary's Ethics Academy Module 1 and a chart showing modules under development.

While the Judiciary's Ethics Academy is developing, the Judiciary does train new employees on court operations and ethics and compliance issues through regular on-boarding training opportunities. Attachment B hereto shows the Judiciary's on-boarding training curriculum. Please note that the on-boarding curriculum does contain a Code of Conduct and Purposes and Responsibilities of the Courts training segment, both of which have ethics matters imbedded in the training curriculum.

Also, to augment training opportunities for employees, the Judiciary established the Leadership Development Academy (LDA) back in October, 2020. To date, the Judiciary has had forty-nine (49) Managers and Supervisors attend this five-day training. Attachment C hereto shows the LDA training curriculum. The training covers a variety of training segments that have ethics matters embedded in the curriculum. For instance, the first day of the curriculum covers Leadership Roles and Responsibilities which includes ethics components. Day 5 of the curriculum covers Procurement matters which are required pursuant to law.

The Judiciary also had a number of employees attend a Pacific Judicial Council (PJC) webinar this year that included an ethics and code of conduct training segment. Attachment D hereto provides more information on the webinar that Judiciary employees attended back in March and May, 2021.

Attachment E hereto includes employees hired after the enactment of P.L. 36-25, who have received the training described above and who are pending the required ethics training. Attachment F hereto includes employees hired prior to the enactment of P.L. 36-25, who are pending the required ethics training.

Please feel free to contact me, or our Staff Attorney Andrew S. Quenga if you have any questions on this updated Ethics Training Compliance Report.

Sincerely,

KRISTINA L. BAIRD
Administrator of the Courts

Court Staff Webinar Series

Overview of the Courts: Why Your Role Matters?

Courts exist primarily to resolve disputes between private individuals and their government in accordance with the law and all court staff play a role in the purposes and responsibilities of courts. Participants will briefly learn about the purposes of courts and how their roles as court staff support the court's purpose and mission. Procedural Justice also plays a key role in improving public trust and confidence and through interactive sessions, the participants will discuss the importance of Procedural Justice and their role in the process.

Court staff must also understand how to assist and respond to court patrons, attorneys, and litigants in a case. Recognizing the difference between legal advice and legal information and learning about ethics and the code of conduct will help the participants understand how to give appropriate assistance to patrons and all who come before the courts.

The training is expected to be an interactive and engaging discussion with court staff from PJC jurisdictions. Participants will analyze hypothetical scenarios by applying key principles discussed during the training. All court staff are essential to court operations and participants will learn why courts exist and why their specific role matters.

In order to accommodate interactive discussion and facilitated breakout rooms, the enrollment is capped at 40 participants per session. Both sessions offer identical content so you only need to enroll for one of the session times listed below.
